

Figure 1 is a scatter plot showing the distribution of 1000 simulated data points. The points are clustered in a small region in the center of the plot, with a red cross marking the center of the cluster. The axes are labeled from 0 to 1000.

